The global apparel supply chain has faced several challenges in the past decade and the industry has approached these very effectively with various initiatives, involving all stakeholders in the process. Sustainability and transparency are key areas that need to be addressed. India has stakeholders across the value chain, and thus have ability to meet these challenges successfully.

Dye Chem World and the Knit Process Exhibition will bring all stakeholders under one roof and the CEO summit will give the leaders a platform to discuss and plan the roadmap for the coming decade. I am confident Indian entrepreneurs will rise to the occasion and make the most of this fantastic opportunity.

“

Tiruppur holds a very important place in India's Textile & Apparel exports. Despite the most challenging situations during Covid, Tiruppur's industry could handle the problems most proficiently and have bounced back quickly. A lot of credit goes to the entrepreneurial spirit of the industry owners for their inexorable efforts. Tiruppur's textile cluster will grow rapidly in view of the emerging opportunities due to geopolitical changes that happened post Covid-19.

In this backdrop, an exhibition dedicated to knitting and processing in Tiruppur is an appreciable effort. The exhibition will create business opportunities. and There cannot be a better time to have such an exhibition when the factors are turning positive for India.
